The Holocaust: Our Duty to Remember - But What?

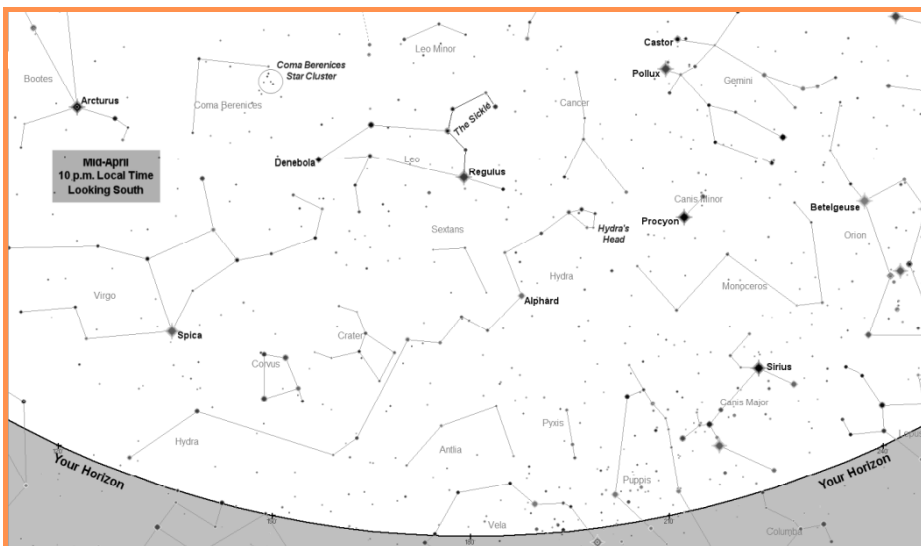

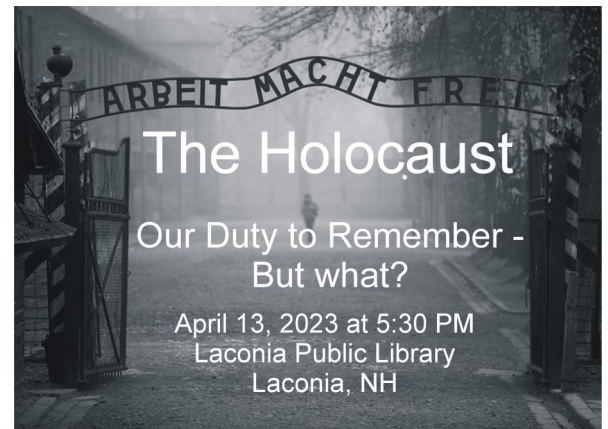

Thursday, April 13

5:30pm

Laconia Rotary Hall (Auditorium)

Adults

Join Mick Grzonka for a presentation that provides historical context of how the Nazi regime rose to power and sheds light on the background against which the "Night of the Broken Glass," and later the Holocaust, took place. The talk is organized around dispelling four common myths. The talk will cover how the Nazi regime came about, and the reasons for its atrocious deeds. In particular, it will take a close look at how common people were induced to contribute to industrialized murder, as we must understand the Holocaust today. Grzonka came from Germany to the U.S. in 1996. A Ph.D. chemist by trade, he applied scientific, bilingual research techniques to Martin Luther, his times, and his writings. He is the author of a book on the German Reformation titled "Martin Luther and His Times."
