FIRE DANGER: LITHIUM BATTERIES

NEVER place Lithium-ion batteries in your garbage or recycling containers!

Effective July 1, 2025, rechargeable lithium-ion batteries are prohibited from disposal in New Hampshire's landfills and incinerators. Lithium-ion batteries are used in a wide variety of consumer products, including: Automotive vehicles; electric bikes and scooters; lawncare equipment; portable electronics such as cell phones, laptops, tablets, cameras, wireless headphones, speakers, toothbrushes and other rechargeable devices; cordless power tools; toys and vape devices.

Any battery that is rechargeable, is recyclable.

Many New Hampshire businesses, like Staples, Best Buy or BatteriesPlus, offer collection boxes for recycling rechargeable batteries. To find a drop-off site nearest to you, contact Public Works at 603-528-6379, check the Call2Recycle.org website or check the website of one of the retail locations mentioned above. Laconia Public Works also collects rechargeable batteries during its annual Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day. The collection is limited to Laconia residents only.

For more information visit NH's Department of Environmental Services website at:

This group will provide support, education, and an opportunity to exchange ideas among caregivers of those suffering with dementia. ## Summer Tip #1

Be aware of your medication's side effects!

Some medications may cause drowsiness, increased sensitivity to sunlight, or other reactions.

When traveling, be especially cautious—time zone changes can affect your dosing schedule, and exposure to different climates may intensify certain side effects.

Always read the label and consult your healthcare provider with any concerns.

EBENEZER SMITH, MEREDITH'S PRIME MOVER: BIOGRAPHY OF A FOUNDING FATHER

Rudy VanVeghten was born and raised in Manchester, Vermont. He began his career as a journalist at the Meredith News in 1973, spending most of that time as editor.

After leaving Meredith in 2001, Rudy worked in publications and website management at his alma mater, Northeastern University in Boston, until moving back to Meredith following his retirement in 2020.

VanVeghten is the author of five books on Meredith history. The most recent, "Ebenezer Smith, Meredith's Prime Mover: Biography of a Founding Father," delves deep into the life and times of the one individual who championed the cause of settling the township that today encompasses Meredith, Laconia, and Center Harbor Village.

THEN ...

At Weirs Beach, the Gandy Dancer Saloon (seen here at right of Howard Johnson's) held a grand opening, July 17, 1975 — 50 years ago this week. The former Steam Village railroad station had been moved from Gifford. Proprietors were Skip and Carol McLean, who also owned and operated the Howard Johnson's and Saloonkeeper was Craig Farrington. (Laconia Historical and Museum Society)

... AND NOW

The Weirs Beach Family Restaurant, which later included the Gandy Dancer Saloon and Howard Johnson's Restaurant, was destroyed in a fire, Oct. 7, 1984.) Later restaurants, in the building up the hill from the Gandy Dancer, were the Weirs Beach Lobster Pound, Faro Italian Grille, 70 North Kitchen and Market and, currently, The Alamo Texas BBQ & Tequila Bar. The Gateway parking lot, at left, occupies the former Howard Johnson and Gandy Dancer space. (Daniel Sarch/The Laconia Daily Sun)
