	ESS Student Government Meeting 3:15 pm			PSS FALL FESTIVAL - SAT. , 10/25 10AM - 2PM

THE K9 EXPERIENCE

Students studying Law Enforcement at the Huot Technical Center have many opportunities to explore exciting career options within the field ranging from local and state police departments, federal law enforcement agencies, fish and game wardens, criminal investigators, correctional officers and private security. One thing they all have in common is the responsibility to protect citizens and their property, apprehend suspects and enforce the law.

Gilford Patrol Officer Adam P. VanSteensburg and his K9 Partner "Ike" presented to the Law Enforcement Class regarding the partnership between Ike and Officer VanSteensburg. Officer VanSteensburg explained the important role of dogs in law enforcement operations and the two main classifications of police dogs (K9's), detection and general purpose.

Shown (left) is Mayor Ed Engler of Laconia presenting a Proclamation to Roger and Susan Legendre declaring that the City Council of Laconia designates the month of November 2014 as "Pancreatic Cancer Awareness Month" in Laconia, New Hampshire. Susan and Roger are residents of Laconia and volunteers with the Pancreatic Cancer Action Network. They have visited almost every hospital in the state to raise awareness of the need for progress in developing treatments and early detection tools for pancreatic cancer. To date, pancreatic cancer is the fourth leading cause of cancer death in the United States, and the five year survival rate is only six percent. Approximately 190 deaths will occur in New Hampshire in 2014.

Volunteers with the New Hampshire Affiliate of the Pancreatic Cancer Action Network have planned an event called PurpleLight, which will be held at Veteran's Park in Manchester, NH, on October 26, 2014, from 7:00 - 8:30pm. Manchester Mayor Ted Gatsas will be presenting attendees with a Proclamation stating November as Pancreatic Cancer Awareness month in Manchester. Dr. Kerrington Smith and survivor Cori Brodeur will speak briefly and will read the names of those we have lost to pancreatic cancer and those who are survivors. Survivors, families and friends in attendance will be asked to illuminate a purple glow stick at the time their or their loved one's name is read. To register, please visit www.purplelight.org.

To learn more about the Pancreatic Cancer Action Network and the New Hampshire Affiliate, visit www.pancan.org or contact Aimee Sherman, Community Representative, 603-477-7834, asherman@pancanvolunteer.org. To contact Susan Legendre please e-mail at slegendre@aol.com

Union Ave. Construction Project

As we work on improving our roads, you may have noticed significant activity on Union Avenue. Work at that location during this construction season includes water main, natural gas, sewer, road and sidewalk upgrades.

The project is planned in two phases, with the second phase (Walker St. to Gilford Avenue) now nearing completion. During the construction day, traffic will be northbound only; southbound traffic will be detoured (see Phase 2 detour plans). On weekends and evenings Union Avenue will be open to two-way traffic.

Please continue to visit the many businesses on Union Avenue and, as always, if you have questions or concerns please call DPW at 528-6379.

Thank you for your cooperation!

The link above will take you to a brief survey with demographic questions as well as short-answer questions. This survey is an electronic, shortened version of our full-form interview. If you would like to be interviewed, please contact the Planning Department at 527-1264. If you're interested in participating in the long-form interview process, we'd love to arrange a time and location that works for you!

“The Islands of Lake Winnepesaukee”

Join Ron Guilmette, author and photographer, as he relates his adventures and experiences paddling to all of the islands of Lake Winnepesaukee, Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 6:30 p.m. in Taylor Community's Woodside Building, 435 Union Ave.

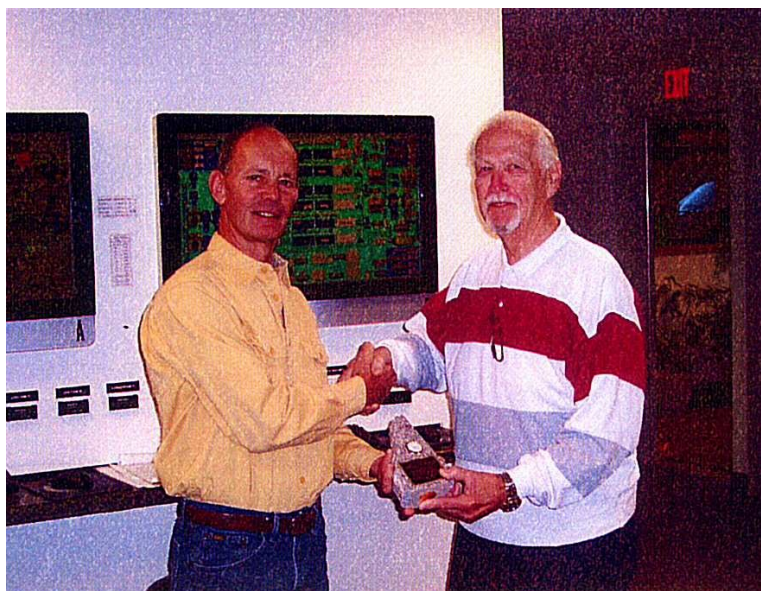

Guilmette and co-author Jay Leccese recently released a coffee table book titled “The Islands of Winnepesaukee,” which documents the authors' kayaking adventures to all of the lake's islands with more than 275 full-color photos. It also contains many interesting anecdotes and fun facts about the lake and its islands.

The event is free and open to the public, but reservations are required to ensure seating. Please call 524-5600, Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Guilmette was born and raised in Lawrence, MA. He started renting kayaks for 25 cents an hour on the Shawsheen River in Andover when he was 10 years old. He's done extensive ocean kayaking with his good friend, Red McDonald to the Isle of Shoals, off the coast of New Hampshire and in Bar Harbor, ME with a guide. He also kayaked through the 10,000 islands in Everglades National Park, FL. He continues to ocean kayak with his children off of Salisbury Beach, MA, where he's lived for the past 42 years.

WATER DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT OF DICK BRETON

The Laconia Water Department would like to announce the retirement of Richard (Dick) V. Breton from the Board of Water Commissioners.

Mr. Breton has been a Commissioner with the Department for 20 years and his leadership and genuine concern for the Department and its employees will be greatly missed.

During his tenure Dick oversaw numerous Water Department projects, the most recent being the completion of the treatment plant upgrade as well as the Union Avenue and Main St./Pleasant St. water main replacement projects.

Chairman Gregory Page recently awarded Dick a commemorative plaque for "his leadership, sound judgment and the respect he showed others."

CHANGING FIRE ENVIRONMENT

In the October 3rd edition of the Links we wrote about smoke alarms and their effectiveness, or lack thereof. In this edition we will write about the changing fire environment. Since the 1970s the number of structure fires in the United States has steadily declined in most communities. Unfortunately, the rate of people dying in fires has not changed. In 1970 the death rate per 1,000 fires was 8. Today it is 7.5. Why is that? A significant concern is the toxicity levels of today's modern fire environment and the speed with which a fire in a home will burn. The average house fire today produces more than 50 toxic gases. Carbon monoxide is still the most abundant gas and accounts for a large number of fire deaths. But today we see higher levels of hydrogen cyanide, arsenic, hydrogen sulfide, and ammonia. Unfortunately, hydrogen cyanide and carbon monoxide enhance the toxic effects of one another. What has caused this problem is the shift away from natural materials in construction and in the fabrics and materials we use daily. Many of the items in our homes today are synthetic based and hydrocarbon based. In its simplest terms the stuff we bring in our homes is in essence solidified gasoline and fuel oil. These materials burn faster and hotter and produce large quantities of thick black smoke. The black smoke obscures your vision creating a sense of panic, which increases the breathing rate. The by-products of the fire process – toxic gases – can be inhaled and absorbed into the body. As the plastic based materials burn they produce the toxins mentioned previously. As a fire grows the temperatures rise dramatically and the oxygen levels decrease. As the oxygen levels decrease the combustion process actually releases greater quantities of toxins and smoke.

How did this become such a serious problem? In the 1970's the average home had a few hundred pounds of plastic materials inside. Think back in time when most clothing was cotton and most construction materials were solid wood. Television sets and stereos were a piece of wood furniture. Telephones were made from metal. No one had computers. Toys were metal. In today's modern fire environment the average home has 1,500 pounds of plastics inside. This consists of children's toys and furniture, clothing is synthetic, carpets and curtains are synthetic, televisions are plastic and every home has a plastic computer. Shoes are plastic based. Furniture stuffing is synthetic and plastic based. These plastics heat up in a fire and decompose giving off flammable vapors, which in turn ignite. If the material does not burn clean due to a lack of oxygen then you get poor combustions and the production of enormous quantities of carbon monoxide and hydrogen cyanide. These gases will rise in the heat of a fire, which is why we tell people to crawl in a fire. Stay as low as possible where the air is better. The main point to remember is GET OUT AND STAY OUT. Never go back into a burning building.

In the 1970s we would use hose streams that would pump 60 gallons of water per minute and water tanks on the fire trucks held 300 to 500 gallons. This is what was needed to quickly extinguish a fire. The fire would not reach flashover for at least 20 minutes, which gave firefighters time to get to the scene, get in and put out the fire. In today's fire we need hose streams that flow 180 gallons of water per minute. The water tanks on our trucks now carry 1,000 gallons of water. We need to connect to a fire hydrant quickly or risk depleting the water we bring to the scene. Fires today are getting to extreme temperatures (1,400 degrees F) very fast. This is attributed to the heat output of plastics. Flashover can occur today in as little as five minutes, depending on the room size, contents and air supply. The smaller the room the quicker it is to flashover. A home with an open design concept (big rooms, wide doorways, and high ceilings) has more air for combustion. Insulation and energy efficient windows hold the heat from a fire and then the fire radiates back onto the furnishings and the faster the flashover. Recent studies by Underwriters Laboratories and the National Institute for Standards and Technology confirmed through hundreds of tests that these opinions by fire service professionals are actually fact. Go on You Tube and enter "UL fire studies" to watch comparisons of fires in a modern environment versus an older environment.

The lesson from all of this is to have smoke alarms installed in your home – outside of the bedrooms, in each bedroom, and at least one on every level; if the alarm sounds react, don't delay. If you have a fire call 911 and get everyone out fast. Have a meeting place outside of your home. If you can't get out go to a room away from the fire and close the door. The UL and NIST studies indicate that a closed door will create a safer area of refuge. Once in the room open the window slightly and yell for help. Do not open the window completely as this will allow fresh air into the home and create what we call a flow path for the fire to go to. We are now teaching this to our own firefighters to seek refuge in case they get lost or trapped in a fire.

Most people will never experience a hostile fire in their home. However, it does not mean you should not be prepared. Protect your family with smoke detectors.

What's in a Name?

Monday, Oct. 27 at 6:30 p.m. Paula Wanzer will present the Road Scholar Lifelong Learning Adventures program "What's in a Name?"

The event is free and open to the public and will be held at Taylor Community's Woodside Building. To ensure seating, please RSVP by calling 524-5600 Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Recently selected as the Lakes Region's New Ambassador to Road Scholar, Wanzer will share her experiences with the audience. She began teaching the programs in 1994 as a canoe instructor at Brewster Academy, Wolfeboro, NH. In 2008 she started traveling with Road Scholar and continues to teach "Kayaking in the Adirondacks" today.

The Road Scholar's mission is to inspire adults to learn, discover and travel. Since its inception, more than 5 million people have enrolled in 5,500 iconic educational adventures offered annually in 50 states and 150 countries around the world.

Team Taylor Raises Nearly $7,400 for Alzheimer's

Taylor Community was recognized state-wide as having one of the Top Teams in the Sept. 27 Walk to End Alzheimer's in Manchester after raising $7,346.56. They also received a gold medal symbolizing the group as a member of the Grand Champions Club for raising more than $1,000.

A small, but mighty team of Taylor Community staff members started in January with a goal of raising $4,500 for the Alzheimer's Association. The group met regularly volunteering their time to come up with a variety of fund-raising ideas. Each team member did personal fundraising efforts on their own time as well. There was an outpouring of support from family members of residents who heard of the team's efforts and wanted to thank Taylor Community staff members for the work they do in caring for their loved ones with dementia.

The group has already received a $100 donation which will go toward next year's efforts!
