FALL BOOK DISCUSSION SERIES: THIS BOOK IS ON FIRE!

Our Fall Book Discussion Series looks at the devastating effect fire can have on our communities, psyches, and environment. From the evidence of climate change increasing the frequency of forest fires to stories of love and arson in Accomack County, Virginia, this series explores the captivating power of flames.

"AMERICAN FIRE" BY MONICA HESSE

Tuesday, November 12
7pm
Laconia Rotary Hall

The arsons started on a cold November midnight and didn't stop for months. Night after night, the people of Accomack County waited to see which building would burn down next, regarding each other at first with compassion, and later suspicion. Incorporating this drama into the long-overlooked history of arson in the United States, American Fire re-creates the anguished nights that this quiet county spent lit up in flames, mesmerizingly evoking a microcosm of rural America - a land half gutted before the fires even began.
Discussion led by Frumie Selchen.

As part of the Union Avenue road project, the City has implemented a change to the traffic signal phasing at the Elm/Clinton/Union intersection.

With the traffic signal upgrades completed, Elm Street and Clinton Street are now on the same phase. When Elm Street has the green light, Clinton Street also has the green light. This means that left turning vehicles now need to yield to oncoming traffic.

This work is in conjunction with other upgrades to the signals, including a new video detection system, flashing yellow arrow signals, and restoring the emergency vehicle and railroad preemption. Please feel free to contact Krista Larsen, Assistant Public Works Director, at 528-6379, Ext. 306 or email klarsen@laconianh.gov

Our yesterdays

Our thanks to Warren D. Huse, the Laconia Historical and Museum Society, and the Laconia Daily Sun for providing a glimpse into our community's past....

THEN . . .

. . . AND NOW

With the Citizen and other buildings demolished in mid-January 1970, more than half of the space between Mill and Hanover streets has been a parking lot for the past half century. (Adam Drapcho/The Laconia Daily Sun)
