Meadowlark Trio Kicks off Concert Season at Taylor Community

The 2020 Taylor Concert Series, sponsored by Bank of New Hampshire, kicks off Sunday, January 19 at 3 pm in Taylor Community's Woodside Building with the Meadowlark Trio, performing works by Mozart and Brahms. This free event is open to the public.

The trio – comprised of Janny Joo, violin; Timothy Paek, cello, and April Sun on piano – hails from America's heartland. Formed by the three best friends in 2012, they have since performed nationwide to great acclaim. Performances include the Toronto Summer Music Festival; Carnegie Room Concerts and Spectrum Music Series in New York as well as the Bing Concert Hall in California and house concerts in Montana.

The group looks beyond the conventional model of classical music by creating new works and commissioning works by multiple composers. They are also deeply committed to community outreach. As fellows for Music for Food, they present concerts and workshops throughout the greater Boston area to benefit local food pantries.

Here Am I, Send Me: The Journey of Jonathan Daniels

Introduction by and Q&A with co-producer, Dr. Lawrence Benaquist

Sunday, January 19, 2020 • 3:00 – 5:00PM (doors open at 2:30)
BEANE CENTER • 35 Blueberry Lane • Laconia

Sponsored by Laconia Human Relations Committee

Daniels was an Episcopal seminarian and civil rights activist from Keene, NH, who was shot and killed in 1965 in Hayneville, Alabama, while in the act of shielding 17-year-old Ruby Sales. This film chronicles his life and death.

Dr. Lawrence Benaquist, Professor Emeritus, Keene State College, founder of the Film Studies program, holds a doctorate in Renaissance Literature, and came to film shortly after his arrival at Keene State. As a visiting scholar at USC and UCLA, and an NEH grant to Brown University, he moved his area of interest to that of the study of cinema. The program now has 140 students, one of the largest programs at the College. Benaquist has produced several documentaries, one on the history of Keene State College that has aired on NHPBS, and the documentary on Jonathan Daniels, which was aired nationally on PBS.

Riverside Gallery Exhibit: Lindsey Tebaldi
January 3rd-31st

Lindsey grew up in Saratoga, NY and moved to New Hampshire to attend college at Plymouth State University. She received a Bachelor's degree in fine art, with a concentration on copper etching and printmaking. She also received a Masters in Art Education, and is currently teaching art K-8 in Pembroke, NH. The love of the outdoors, and the magic of a still quiet forest have led to the inspiration of many natural themes in her work as well as the elements of copper etching being very prominent in the line of work. This collection is the culmination of the last 5 years of working during free time and vacations from school in the medium of pen and ink on paper, which is then scanned and colored digitally.

An artist reception will be held Friday, January 10th

Our yesterdays

Our thanks to Warren D. Huse, the Laconia Historical and Museum Society, and the Laconia Daily Sun for providing a glimpse into our community's past.....

THEN . . .

The Laconia Passenger Station is seen here in the late 1930s or early 1940s, in a postcard published by the Fairbanks Card Co. of Brookline, Mass., which called for a one-cent stamp for delivery. Built in 1892 by the Concord & Montreal Railroad, the station's construction coincided with creation of Depot — later Veterans — Square and the small park, just off-photo at right. The railroad had reached Meredith Bridge in 1848 and, from 1853 until Oct. 31, 1954, the community was a stop on the main line between Boston and Montreal, with as many as seven passenger trains a day in each direction, along with numerous freights. Thereafter, scheduled passenger service was successively reduced until it ended entirely in early January 1965. (Laconia Historical and Museum Society)

. . . AND NOW

The city bought the station from the railroad in 1957 and sold it to 653 Main Street Associates, July 30, 1984. In the meantime, the structure had been home to the Laconia Police Department and District Courtroom from February 1964 until the District Court moved to new quarters at the Academy Street School in December 1978 and the Police Department moved to the Winston Building on Church Street in January 1979. The space under the canopies was enclosed for various businesses and for the Chamber of Commerce offices during the late 1980s, beginning with the Plant Petaler — in space now occupied by Prescott's Florist — in early March 1986.
