presentation about loons at the Belknap Mill in Laconia. The presentation by a biologist from the Loon Preservation Committee (LPC) will focus on the biology and life history of loons, the threats that loons face while on our lakes, and the work that the LPC's staff and volunteers have performed since 1975 to help recover New Hampshire's threatened loon population. The presentation will end with a discussion of the loon activity on Lakes Winnisquam and Opechee and the work being done on those lakes to help improve reproductive success. The event is free and open to the public.

The Loon Preservation Committee works to protect loons throughout the state as part of its mission to restore and maintain a healthy population of loons in New Hampshire; to monitor the health and productivity of loon populations as sentinels of environmental quality; and to promote a greater understanding of loons and the natural world.

The Opechee Garden Club announces the return of the Summer Tour on July 16, 2022 from 9 AM to 3 PM, RAIN OR SHINE. Tickets are $30 and include a luncheon at the Gilford Community Church. There will be an educational presentation at the church on invasive species of NH. A raffle with some wonderful prizes donated by Club members and the community will also be located at the church.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at Apple-tree Nursery in Winnisquam, the Laconia Public Library, Petal Pushers in Laconia, Beans and Greens Farm in Gilford, the Gilford Public Library, and Cackleberries in Meredith. Tickets will also be available for purchase the day of the event at the Gilford Community Church, located at 19 Potter Hill Road in Gilford. ### Learn about Loons July 6th at Belknap Mill

For many, the haunting call of the loon is an important part of the lake experience in New Hampshire. Often seen as a symbol of the northern wilderness, loons are a beloved fixture on the state's lakes, and many lake goers enjoy watching them as they raise their young. However, the breeding season can be a vulnerable time for loons—they face many threats, both natural and anthropogenic, while on our lakes.

On July 6th at 7 pm the Winnisquam Watershed Network, the Laconia Conservation Commission and the Lake Opechee Protective Association will host a Community ARTS are alive at the Belknap Mill!

Join us this Friday, June 17th for a celebration of the Arts at the Belknap Mill

At 5:00 pm there will be an artist reception in the Riverside Gallery for the Joe Sack Photography exhibit. Then beginning at 6:00pm, Steve Dennis will be the featured performer for the Belknap Mill's 2022 Arts in the Park Summer Concert Series. All concerts are free & open to the public.

Patrons are welcome to bring lawn chairs, a blanket, and a picnic dinner for an evening of live music in Rotary Park. With an eye on the forecast, the concert will take place either in Rotary Park or on the 3rd floor of the Belknap Mill.

Joe Sack became enamored with photography in the 1960's. He began shooting Hasselblad cameras and printing black and white photographs while a medical student at Johns Hopkins. With the expansion of digital technology in the early 2000's, he became more committed to photography. Joe always travels, hikes, and skis with a camera focused on the places and people he encounters. He prints in both color and black and white but believes that black and white better conveys the essence of what he sees.

Steve Dennis with Jacob McCurdy and Old Tom and The Lookouts is a four piece modern folk band from Massachusetts featuring tight 3-part vocal harmonies, acoustic guitars and fiddle.

The Belknap Mill's 2022 Summer Concert Series is generously presented by founding sponsor The Laconia Putnam Fund, event sponsor Cisneros Realty Group and media sponsors, Lakes FM 101.5, 104.9 The Hawk and with bookings by NH Music Collective. used since the beginnings of the Jewish Food Festival. The cooking team at TBI that day included one of the creators of the Jewish Food Festival, Irene Gordon. Under Irene's guidance, the festival developed into one of the most iconic events during the summer in the Lakes Region. This long-standing history is what caught the attention of Mary-Paige Provost, producer of Chronicle. When Ms. Provost was contacted by TBI, she was excited at the opportunity to create a segment that would feature going "behind the scenes" in the TBI kitchen where the magic happens to create the foods that make the Jewish Food Festival what it is today.

Over the years there have been many changes to the Jewish Food Festival, but the consistent component is the food, which is what the New Hampshire Chronicle segment will highlight. At the end of the filming session there was a table set for the crew to sample the blintzes that were made that day, fresh from the frying pans, along with a taste of potato latkes, beef and potato knishes, and rugelach, a crescent shaped pastry that was brought to America by the immigrants from Eastern Europe in the early 1900's. No one would let them leave hungry, and without goody bags to take home. The TBI cooks, all ma-vens (experts) in their own kitchens, know that it's about the food and if the products are not unsurpassed, then they haven't done their job.

The New Hampshire Jewish Food Festival is open and accepting orders until June 30th. Tune in to WMUR on Wednesday, watch Chronicle, and place an order at www.tbinh.org. Chronicle can also be seen live streamed at <https://www.wmur.com/chronicle#>. Order soon as quantities are limited.

Temple B'nai Israel of Laconia The NH Jewish Food Festival Featured on WMUR Chronicle

For 25 years, members of Temple B'nai Israel welcomed the Lakes Region community to their doors to experience traditional Jewish cuisine and culture. Recently, the production team from WMUR's New Hampshire Chronicle visited Temple B'nai Israel to see just how it's done. The segment will air on Wednesday, June 22 at 7:00 pm featuring the people and the process of making several hundred cheese blintzes, a tried-and-true favorite on the Jewish Food Festival menu.

The film crew arrived at TBI with the kitchen already running at full speed. A team of about a dozen people were mixing, blending, frying, filling, folding and wrapping blintzes that were then frozen in packs of 6. The team takes great care to follow the long-standing recipe that has been
